THE TABLE.

Articles of Use and Ornament Now Employed at Fashionable Dinners.

Silver is now preferred for table ornaments to anything else. Pepper boxes, saltcellars, butter plates and sauce dishes all are of silver.

A new idea in table decoration is to have a flat mirror framed in silver placed in the middle, on which are arranged groups of old Saxony statuettes, alternating with little silver vases full of flowers, the latter being scarcely any higher than the figures. The statuettes are connected by garlands of fine foliage, like smilax or climbing fern or asparagus.

Usually for the decoration of the table one kind of flower is adopted or one color—pink roses or red carnations or yellow tulips. Where yellow flowers are selected for any decoration to be viewed by artificial light the yellow should be of an orange rather than a lemon hue, as greenish yellows do not light up well. Pink and red are the best colors for dinner table ornamentation, as they are lively and appear to advantage by all lights.

A great deal of luxury has hitherto been expended on table linen, in the way of embroidery, lace, drawn work and insertion. Now has come a revolution, and the newest and most fashionable table damask is quite plain save for the embroidered cipher or monogram. What is saved in trimming, however, goes into the quality of the damask, which is of superlative fineness. Tinted linen is, of course, only admissible for the breakfast and luncheon table.

White crystal for the table has replaced the colored glassware so long used. Even wineglasses matching the color of the wine are no longer in the latest taste, except in the case of Rhine wine. All other wine is served in colorless glass.

Louis Quince silverware is revived in some elegant houses. The old silver forks have two or three times, but the handles are variously decorated. The spoons have a small bowl, but a very long handle. The knives are elaborately wrought. This ware is only interesting and effective when it is genuine.

The sketch shows a house bodice, the blouse and basque being of broche silk, the shirred chemisette of ruby velvet. The square revers of gray satin and the flaring collar of the same material are edged with a tiny ruche of gray satin which continues across the front of the corsage. The close sleeves of gray satin have shoulder puffs of ruby velvet and velvet bands at the wrists. The soft tail of ruby velvet is fastened by a steel buckle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

During the summer of 1891, Mr. Chas. P. Johnson, a well known attorney of Louisville, Ky., had a very severe attack of summer complaint. Quite a number of different remedies were tried, but failed to afford any relief. A friend who knew what was needed procured him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which quickly cured him and he thinks, saved his life. He says that there has not been a day since that time that he has not had this remedy in his household. He speaks of it in the highest praise and takes much pleasure in recommending it whenever an opportunity is offered. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith Co., General Agents.
